

Is it possible to deliver summer programs that are just and equitable for Marin's students? If yes, what would these programs look like?

¿Es posible ofrecer programas de verano que sean justos y equitativos para los estudiantes de Marin? Si es así, ¿cómo serían estos programas?

Think of a student or family that may not attend a summer program. What would that student or family need from their schools, community organizations and support systems to participate?

Piense en un estudiante o una familia que tal vez no asista a un programa de verano. ¿Qué necesitaría ese estudiante o familia de sus escuelas, organizaciones comunitarias y sistemas de apoyo para participar?

YES very possible, but it needs to be multi-faceted. I feel it should involve parents, teachers, students, OTs, therapists, and interventionalists all working together :)

Culturally responsible programs in multiple languages

Antes habia programas, apoyados por agencias. tomar clases denuevo para aprenderlo bien

transportation

Programs where they are learning through interest instead of just "catching up" on credits.

Provide Free Transportation

Home visiting

Elementry: emotional resiliency and social-emotional learning

Yes! Considering how to resolve conflict through collaboration passionate & Caring & BIPOC!!! To address equity its essential to have people of color working with people of color. It needs to be more than a job to people, we need a revolutionary approach, not "providing services"

$ for their time

Emotional availability from educational figure

Drop in activities, community building for the entire family

Loaned tech supplies and support

Yes. Students entering high school learn organizational and technological skills

Los estudiantes que no pasan sus clases pueden repasan las classes. Programa de libros, que en verano que lo hacen en el elemental y que hay un program que ayuda con el enfoque y pueden estar con sus compañeros.

People that look like them

Often times older siblings act as caregivers to the younger siblings, especially because of the summer break. Having programs for all ages would be ideal

Youtube videos, online content for the family to enjoy

Income replacement for their participation

Music & Art programs
